

1000 Word Essay on Punctuality

Punctuality is about being on time and completing the task within the given time limit. Life is more beautiful and fuller of achievements if we are embracing punctuality. Students reaching late in classes are missing some of the important lectures as well as opportunities. Punctuality is a habit that needs to be attained slowly and gradually. A child does not become punctual right from birth, but requires learning and bringing the importance of completing the work on time. Being punctual shows your concern for your work.

Life of Great Personalities Illustrating Punctuality

Mahatma Gandhi also called the "Father of the Nation" was the symbol of punctuality. He was very much conscious of doing all his works on time without any sort of delay. He used to start his day by waking up early in the morning at 4 o'clock. He kept his watch always with him as it reminded him of the time. He disliked wasting a single minute. It is surprising to know that his watch stopped working at the moment he perished and stopped breathing.

George Washington the first president of the United States of America was a man of Punctuality. He did all his works on time, for example eating, working, meetings, etc. He did not appreciate the delay of a single minute. He arrived at the exact time to have his meal. He started eating without waiting for anyone else to arrive. The quality of being punctual in his daily routine and for every work made him a leader.

Importance of Punctuality

- Makes People Reliable - A person following punctuality intends to complete all the tasks and responsibilities within the time frame. They are easily trusted by other people that will not be late and will be responsible. They easily complete their work and give their best result which helps them to get success.
- Helps in Becoming Planned and Systematized - The people understanding and following punctuality is never a latecomer. It helps in developing time management, completing tasks before deadline, arriving a bit earlier than the reporting time, ready with all the requirements. The people bearing all these qualities are considered to be planned and systematized. They are the performers and all these results by punctuality.
- Punctuality Inculcates Discipline - People who are punctual in their life are also disciplined. Their punctual nature makes them complete their work on time despite various hindrances. This actual meaning of discipline is realizing the importance of work and completing it in a given time which can be only attained by being punctual.
- Helps in Fulfilling Our Ambition - It is always said that one right step in the right direction along with considering the importance of time can make us achieve our ambition. We need to understand the importance of time and work within the time frame to achieve our target.

- Make People to be Admired by Others - The people with a habit of doing all their works on time are mostly successful in their life. They are also enriched with moral antiquates and culture. They are admired by other people and children. This will help others, especially children to develop the values of Punctuality within themselves.
- Success at Workplace - The employees who are responsible for their work is regarded by their superiors. Such people get promoted to higher positions and achieve success in their life.

Punctuality is Crucial for Success

“Winners are not born differently, instead, they work distinctively”

The leaders or winners are people among us. They work in such a way that makes them different from others. Punctuality is one of the greatest qualities which they possess. A person can never reach heights if he does not understand valuing time and is determined for achieving the goal. Being Punctual is necessary for attaining success whether we are in student life or working as professionals.

Students need to wake up early in the morning and complete all the tasks assigned by managing time. Rising early in the morning provides plenty of time to carry out other important activities like exercising which makes the body fit and healthy. The students should have a maximum concentration on their aim. The students who are late in attending the lectures, lazy attitude, and take life in an easy way are left out with no option at last rather than repenting for their deeds.

Value of Punctuality in the Life of a Student

A child grows to become a student. The children are not born with the quality of punctuality. It is a virtue and it needs to be acquired. The child learns it in their life as they grow. Punctuality is most important in the life of a student.

Student life is said to be full of struggles. They need to strive hard to achieve the goal of their life. Every student must be punctual and disciplined in their life. Punctuality rewards us with success. The path of success is always full of thorns but a student by his intellect, punctuality, and discipline can cross the path and achieve their goal. Time management is most important as students are required to complete all the tasks in a given time and give priority to the important tasks.

Students not understanding the importance of punctuality are always at loss. Reaching late to attend the classes and missing lectures will never be a benefit. They will miss important learning and good opportunities too.

Conclusion

Punctuality inculcates integrity, discipline, and manners in us. These qualities enrich the personality of a person. Punctuality helps us in boosting our confidence. We can rely on ourselves and will develop the feeling that 'I can do it'. It is essential for every human being to learn to be punctual from the initial stage of life. This will make our life worth living.

Punctuality is not being practiced only by human beings but also the nature around us. Therefore, punctuality is not only a key to success for an individual but also for the entire community, nation, globe.